Scouting report

Penn leads the all-time series 37-28. ... Riley defeated Penn 74-69 in last season's sectional championship game. The Kingsmen beat Riley 72-52 last season in a regular-season game. ... Riley 6-foot-6 sophomore Damezi Anderson averages 17.5 points and 6.8 rebounds a game. ... He was ranked the No. 2 sophomore in the state by the Indianapolis Star's Kyle Neddenriep. ... Riley has won three in a row and five of its last six games. ... Penn allowed its fewest points total of the season in a 55-35 victory against arch-rival Mishawaka on Jan. 29. ... Tyler Seger scored 11 points and had six assists, and Gunnar Dittrich scored nine points and had 13 rebounds vs. Mishawaka.

Coach Al Rhodes

Al Rhodes attended Penn High School and then went on to graduate from Tri-State and Indiana University. He coached at Warsaw, Logansport, and Northrop before coming back to Penn.

Rhodes guided Warsaw to a state championship in 1984. The latest addition to his long list of accolades is being inducted into the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame in 2010.

Coach Rhodes is in his eighth season as the head coach of the Kingsmen.

Coach Rhodes owns an overall record of 567-257 in 35 seasons overall and 113-65 in eight seasons at Penn.

Northside Gym (Elkhart Truth)

SECTIONAL MOVE FOR PENN

Penn's boys and girls basketball teams are switching sectionals this year. They have previously been in sectional 3, but now will be in sectional 4. Sectional 4 consists of Elkhart Central, Elkhart Memorial, Concord, Jimtown, Warsaw, Goshen, Northridge, and Penn. Unlike sectional 3, which switches the sectional site among the schools, Sectional 4 is played every year at Northside Gym in Elkhart. Northside Gym is among the top 10 largest gyms in the state. The gym also has a ton of history in the gym, which creates a rustic old school Indiana basketball feeling.

Senior Kaitlyn Marenzi, an American University commit, said, "I'm very excited about the opportunity to play new teams in a sectional environment." She also adds that she will miss playing the other sectionals opponents, yet is very optimistic about the new sectional.

Senior Camryn Buhr, a Lehigh commit, is a little sad about the switch. She said, "I loved playing in sectional 3 because a lot of the sectional was our conference. I will miss the rivalry between Mishawaka and Penn. It made it very competitive because we would play them at least twice in the same season." However she also says that she is very excited about the switch.

Senior point guard of the boys basketball team Tyler Seger eagerly said, "The historic Northside Gym will hopefully entice more fans to come. I always love playing in Northside Gym, the atmosphere is always electric."

Signing day for Burns (The Pennant)

BURNS CHOOSES BETHEL

Penn High School student-athlete Trey Burns will continue his academic and basketball careers at Bethel College.

Burns, a 6-foot-3 wing with a silky smooth shot and outstanding leaping skills, signed a letter of intent Monday morning at Penn High School.

Last season, Burns average 9.2 points and 4.3 rebounds a game.

"I've always known about Bethel, growing up around it," Burns said. "When coach Lightfoot gave me a call to take a visit and meet the players, I felt like I was part of the team, already. It was like a big family, and I liked that."

"This is a great feeling. It's always been a goal of mine to play college basketball. Bethel is a great program."

Burns said that the Penn High School program under the direction of coach Al Rhodes has prepared him for the collegiate level.

"Coach Rhodes has really helped a lot with teaching me fundamentals," Burns said. "He's helped me get a better attitude, and he's developed me into a harder worker."

Burns helped Penn rack up a 21-6 record, including a 7-1 mark in the Northern Indiana Conference. He scored a career-high 19 points last season in a 97-50 rout of Andean. He suffered a shoulder injury in the off-season, but is expected to be fully recovered for the 2015-16 season.

Coach Mike Lightfoot's Bethel Pilots were 27-7 last season and seeded No. 10 in the NAIA national tournament.

Gelon scores 31 points to lead Bulldogs

December 05, 2015 9:15 pm • Christopher Breach Times Correspondent

CROWN POINT | Playing his first home game since signing with Indiana University, Crown Point senior Grant Gelon put on a show. Penn had no chance, as No. 5 Crown Point ran away to a convincing 85-57 victory Saturday to even its record to 1-1 on the season.

"He's on fire," the PA announcer said in the fourth quarter after Gelon buried back-to-back 3-pointers to give him nine long balls for the night. He finished with 31 points on 11-of-16 shooting and added five rebounds.

"We were just real comfortable," Gelon said. "We've been playing together for so long, and we have great team chemistry. Blake (Bonin) had an amazing night, and my guards were finding me. I was just hitting them when I was open. It was just a great night, a great team win."

It wasn't a one-man show as C.P. had three players in double figures. The Bulldogs led 66-38 after three quarters and led by as many as 33 in the fourth.

"I thought our guys played an overall great offensive game, finding the right people and getting the ball distributed, and it worked out well," C.P. coach Clint Swan said.

Next up is a date with Warren Central at 12:15 p.m. next Saturday in the Forum Tipoff Classic at the Southport Fieldhouse in Indianapolis.

"We were very fortunate to get invited to it, and our guys are excited to be a part of it," Swan said. "It will be a tough challenge. ... It's six games, and we play the second game. It's mainly Indianapolis schools playing teams from outside of the Indianapolis area."

C.P. was never challenged in this one after charging out of the gate to take a 14-5 lead with 4 minutes and 51 seconds left in the first quarter, prompting a Penn timeout. C.P. led 24-17 at the first stop.

Gelon hit four 3-pointers in the second quarter, as the 'Dogs methodically pulled away. Gelon buried a three ball then got a steal and a bucket to put the hosts on top 45-25 late in the period.

Andrew Kenneally scored 17 points off the bench, and Sasha Stefanovic added 13 points for the Bulldogs.

"We all had a great game, and it was a great team win," said C.P.'s John Sakaleros, who finished with eight points as did Ken Decker.

Penn (0-1) got 24 points from Matt Trehwella and 10 from Matt McCown.

Swan was also happy the team bounced back from the pre-Thanksgiving loss at Lafayette Jeff with a good week of practice.

"Our guys were able to see that we're not sneaking up on anybody this year, and everybody is going to be excited to play us," he said. "Grant has a lot to do with that, but I think we did a great job of playing four quarters of basketball from everybody who participated."

MISHAWAKA — Who knows where Penn would be without senior Matt Trehwella?

Actually, Al Rhodes knows.

"We'd be 0 and 3 right now," the Kingsmen coach said after Trehwella continued to make a case as the area's most improved player with 26 points in Penn's 56-37 boys high school basketball victory over visiting Concord on Friday.

"Matt just really worked at all of his basketball skills over the summer," Rhodes said after the 6-foot-5 wing raised his area-leading scoring average to 24.3 while helping the Kingsmen raise their record to 2-1. "Matt's gone from an average shooter to truly an excellent shooter."

"I shot every day (over the summer), worked on my form a lot," said Trehwella, who attempted just one 3-pointer all of last season but has a standing green light now. "I did shoot a lot last year but didn't have the right form."

Trehwella was 4-of-7 outside the arc and 7-of-18 from the field overall Friday to go with 8-of-9 at the line.

The Kingsmen outscored the Minutemen 14-5 in the second quarter for a 24-13 halftime advantage.

Concord (2-3) got no closer than 10 points in the second half, that at 35-25 early in the fourth period, but Penn answered that with a 7-0 run.

"We took a step forward defensively tonight," Rhodes said. "I thought it was our best performance (defensively), and we had a strong rebounding performance."

That might be understating it. The Kingsmen pounded the Minutemen 32-15 on the glass and finished with a 13-3 advantage in second-chance points.

"Their length not only got them rebounds but affected our shots," Concord coach Steve Austin said. "A lot of times on close-in shots, we were moving sideways instead of taking the proper shot, and when you do that, now the basket is moving. We played a little afraid at times when we needed to attack."

"We played hard, and we're a young team playing a difficult schedule," Austin continued, "but we just need a little more common sense. I think we'll be OK once we get guys playing together."

Denzel Halliburton led the Minutemen with 16 points. Cedric Mitchell added 10 points, while Brandon Emerick had nine points and a game-high five assists Freshman Noah Applegate scored all of his 11 points in the closing quarter for the Kingsmen. Point guard Tyler Seger finished with nine points and three assists, while Gunther Dittrich grabbed 10 rebounds.

The Kingsmen soar to a 48-12 lead by halftime against the Chargers on their way to an 80-51 victory, with Dittirich contributing 14 points and 12 rebounds to the cause

MISHAWAKA — Gunther Dittrich continued his streak of double-digit rebound games — and this time, he attempted some shots to go with it.

One night after not even trying a shot against Concord, the 6-foot-5 Penn senior went 5-of-6 from the field and 4-of-4 at the line for a career-high 14 points as the Kingsmen blew past visiting Elkhart Memorial 80-51 in boys high school basketball Saturday.

Dittrich collected 12 rebounds, giving him 36 in the Kingsmen's three victories for the week and a 10.8 average on the season. More than half his boards have been offensive.

"I thought about shooting last night, but I didn't really have any opportunities," Dittrich said with a shrug of the 56-37 win over Concord. "When I got the rebound, I wasn't in position. Everybody was packed on the inside, so I just wanted to find the open man."

"Gunther goes after the ball wherever it is," Penn coach Al Rhodes said of Dittrich's rebounding prowess. "He's still learning to control the basketball when he gets it, not rush things, but hopefully tonight was a break-through night for him."

It was a fly-through night for the Kingsmen (3-1) collectively.

The game got away from the badly outsized Crimson Chargers (2-3) in a hurry, with Penn leading by a stunning 48-12 count at halftime.

"They were five or six inches taller at every spot," Memorial coach Kyle Sears said. "And they shot something like 66 percent the first half (19-of-27 with six 3-pointers) and we shot something like 17 percent (4-of-22). It all kind of added up."

Matt Trewhella led all scorers with 19 points for the Kingsmen. Tyler Seger added 12 points and a game-high seven assists, while Matt McCown netted 10 points on 5-of-6 shooting.

Ajenai Gary scored 12 of his 14 points in the third quarter for the Chargers. Joe Smith added 10 points and a team-high five rebounds, while Jon Bailey had eight points and a game-high four steals.

"I'm as pleased with the second half as you can be on a night like this," Sears said after his club outscored Penn 39-32 following the intermission. "We continued to play hard and a strong second half was what we needed to build on."

It came after a first half in which Memorial chucked up 3-pointers on 18 of their 22 field goal attempts, making just three.

"We're going to keep talking about our shot selection, about making good choices," Sears said. "It's still an inexperienced team, and when you come up against some taller guys, it's easy to settle for those 3-pointers."

How much taller, really, were the Kingsmen? Penn played five players 6-5 or bigger, including the 6-9 McCown. The Chargers' two tallest players are 6-2, and one of those two, Michael O'Toole, who was sidelined for the evening by a first-quarter thumb injury.

"Just like last night, I thought our half-court defense was very aggressive," Rhodes said, "and we're doing an excellent job of clogging the lane with our size and making people shoot over us. If we can stay in front, it makes for a challenging situation."

Experience takes over

Veteran Panthers hold off Penn in crunch time

By Al Lesar South Bend Tribune
MISHAWAKA — Crunch time has a way of exposing pups.

The big dogs run with the basketball game on the line.

Washington, with five senior starters, is loaded with big dogs. After Penn cut a double-digit lead to three midway through the third quarter, experience took over.

Bryan Givens hit a 3-pointer, Kaylen Andrews scored five and Anthony Brazier hit a free throw for nine straight points that pushed the Panthers (5-0, 3-0 NIC) to a 65-57 Northern Indiana Conference victory over Penn (3-2, 1-1) Thursday night.

"We didn't even look at the score," Brazier said of the Panthers' plan with the game on the line. "We just focused on playing as a team."

Washington never got rattled. Penn, on the other hand ...

"When (the difference) got down to three, it was a very winnable game," said Penn coach Al Rhodes. "That's when our inexperience showed. We rushed some shots and had trouble with their pressure."

"When the game got close, we finally started sharing the ball," said Washington coach Chad Johnston. "We're at our best when we don't care who's scoring the points."

The glory was shared Thursday night. Brazier had 21, Givens 18 and Andrews 17.

"That's an (unselfish) attitude that we started working on in the summer," Johnston said. "We've carried it over into our practices, and hopefully our games."

On the other end of the spectrum, senior 6-foot-5 Matt Trehwella had 29 points for the Kingsmen. After that, 6-5 Gunther Dittrich had to score six in the fourth quarter to finish with 10.

"We have to establish our inside people," Rhodes said. "They have to prove they can (take some of the scoring burden off Trehwella)."

Both coaches pointed to Washington's 34-27 rebounding edge as being one of the key stats of the game. Even though Penn had the size advantage, it was the Panthers' ability to leave the floor quickly and get to the ball first that provided the edge.

"Even though they were bigger, we were still able to get the ball inside," said Johnston.

"We didn't block out and they were quicker to the ball," said Rhodes.

Once the Panthers established a 16-12 lead after eight minutes, Penn got within a point or two a couple times, but could never scale the mountain completely. By halftime, Washington led by 10 and was in control.

The fourth quarter was nothing more than a free-throw shooting contest. The two combined to shoot 28. Givens and Brazier made 10 of 17 between themselves. Trehwella hit all seven of his in the fourth quarter and 12 of 12 for the game.

"Some of the misses got in my head," Brazier said. "My teammates picked me up. They convinced me I was going to make them."

PENN 75, New Prairie 55
At New Prairie

Penn senior Matt Trehwella scored 26 points in the first half, and finished with a career-high 32 points as the Kingsmen defeated New Prairie 75-55 Tuesday night in the first meeting between the two schools in high school boys basketball.

Penn is 4-4 overall and 2-1 in the Northern Indiana Conference.
New Prairie is 3-5 and 1-3 in the NIC.

Penn used a 17-0 run on the way to building a 19-3 lead.

Trehwella, a 6-foot-5 wing, hit 6-of-7 three-pointers in the first half as Penn bolted to a 48-25 halftime lead. The Kingsmen hit 9-of-10 from behind the arc before the halftime buzzer sounded.

Penn ended up shooting 10-of-16 from three-point range.

Noah Applegate and Gunnar Dittrich scored 14 points each for the Kingsmen.

Green helps Adams turn back Penn

By Tim Creason Tribune Correspondent

SOUTH BEND — Here's the bizarre statistic of the night from Friday's high school boys basketball game:

In the first quarter, Penn hit 12-of-19 of its field goal attempts against Adams. That's 63 percent.

In the second quarter, the Kingsmen were 1-of-14.

That's 7 percent.

Hard to find success with a trend like that.

The Kingsmen didn't, either, as Adams rallied from a 12-point first quarter deficit to claim a 64-56 Northern Indiana Conference victory.

An excited Adams home crowd erupted as the Eagles won their third straight game following an 0-7 start. Penn fell to 4-5.

Michael Green erupted for 21 points — including nine during a three-minute span of the second quarter — as the Eagles ran through, around and behind Penn's big front-liners.

"We kept running and running and I think we just wore them down," said Adams coach Milt Cooper, who went from being aggravated early on, to being his team's biggest cheerleader along the sideline.

Walter Ellis chipped in 15 points for the Eagles, Brandon Wadley scored 12 and Te'Shan Godwin had 11.

Trailing 27-17 after one quarter, Adams started the second period with a 14-1 run and took a 36-35 lead into halftime.

From that moment, the Eagles were always one step ahead of the Kingsmen, sometimes by a point or two, sometimes by six or eight. The pendulum swung back and forth.

Leading 58-54 with less than a minute remaining, Godwin sank a driving layup following a Penn turnover, putting Adams up by six with 43 seconds left.

The Eagles then salted the game away at the free throw line, with Green and Ellis each sinking a pair of charity tosses in the final 30 seconds.

"It's hard to come from behind when the other team sinks its free throws," said Penn coach Al Rhodes.

"In the first quarter, Adams missed a lot of shots and created fast break opportunities for us," said Rhodes. "Our team played well. But then Adams picked up (its) half-court defense and we made some poor offensive choices. We have to make better decisions on offense."

Matthew Trehwella poured in 24 points for the Kingsmen. Immensely talented freshman Noah Applegate scored 12 points and snared eight rebounds.

Adams has done an almost complete turnaround since playing the first four weeks of its season without a victory.

"We don't talk about wins and losses, we talk about playing our best," said Cooper. "We had a rough start this season, but we were in every game. I think we've played ourselves into a more confident team."

While Green stole the show Friday, Cooper said he has a handful of players who can step up.

"On any given night, we have five guys who could each score 25," said Cooper. "We've got some of the best shooters around. When they play as a team we can be pretty good."

Wolves run away from Penn

By MICHAEL RAINES Staff Writer

MICHIGAN CITY — After Friday night's come-from-behind win over Crown Point, Michigan City coach John Boyd mentioned he wanted to see his team come out stronger at the start of games.

The message must have sunk in quickly. Saturday night against visiting Penn, the Wolves opened an early lead and never looked back in a 66-49 win.

I liked the energy," Boyd said. "I thought we came out very aggressive and tried to create tempo. I thought we were totally in control of what we wanted to do. I thought we took them out of anything they wanted to do with our quickness."

Michigan City (4-5) forced 18 turnovers and drew 22 fouls while putting pressure on Penn at both ends of the floor. The Wolves were 23 of 29 from the charity stripe and 9 of 19 from behind the arc.

"We like to run. We want to keep the tempo intense and fast, and know what we're doing while our opponent tries to keep up with us," Boyd said. "It was good for our guys to get in the open court and find one another."

Jaronde Boyd had a game-high 23 points for the Wolves, hitting 6 of 10 3-point attempts. ShanQuan Hemphill added 12 points, seven rebounds, four assists and three steals. Dante Combs scored 10 points.

Our guys shot the ball with a lot of confidence," Boyd said. "They made shots tonight. I thought we dictated the tempo of the game from start to finish."

Wins on back-to-back night will help the team learn where it needs to be in terms of conditioning and discipline, the coach said. As always, the end goal is to be playing the best basketball by the state tournament, which is why the program has tried to front-load the early part of its season with games against strong competition.

"It's always good to win," Boyd said. "We're not where we need to be just yet. That's why we put this schedule together, because we want to make sure that we

Pozywio catches fire in St. Joseph's win over Penn

- Posted on Jan 23, 2016
by Al Lesar

SOUTH BEND — Down 17-4 early in the second quarter, Jack Pozywio recognized his time to take charge.

The solid 6-foot-7 senior guard for South Bend St. Joseph had to put his personal situation behind him.

Severe migraine headaches forced Pozywio to miss a couple basketball practices this week. He didn't start Friday night's game against Penn, but when he finally got onto the floor, he certainly knew how to finish.

Pozywio, who didn't start because of the absences, scored 11 of his 24 points in the second quarter and led the Indians (9-3, 5-2 NIC) to a 70-64 Northern Indiana Conference victory as Penn dropped to 6-8 (3-3).

"We tried to shut (Dom Ferro, who scored 10 points) off and (Pozywio) probably had the best game of his life," said Penn coach Al Rhodes. "At first we didn't react well to him. That allowed him to get started."

Pozywio started by hitting three of his first four 3-point attempts in the second quarter. He finished 5 of 7 from beyond the arc.

"Once I got in the game, I felt comfortable," Pozywio said. "When (the Kingsmen) focus on the guards, it opens up a lot for the rest of us."

"It's a great feeling when you know that everything you put up is going to hit the bottom of the net."

"Jack's a 6-7 guard that can shoot," said St. Joe coach Mike Bauer. "He's skilled at driving, and with his back to the basket. He's multi-dimensional."

In other words, he's real hard to defend.

Ditto for Penn's Matt Trehwella, at least through the first 20 minutes of the game.

The 6-5 Trehwella was a bear for the St. Joe defense. He had 16 points by halftime as the Kingsmen led 30-27. He had 25 midway through the third quarter. His last bucket pushed the Penn advantage to 41-34.

Then St. Joe's Mark Madden got serious. Trehwella missed his last six shots of the game, and St. Joe went on a 20-6 run that carried over to the first few minutes of the fourth quarter as the Indians took charge.

"We challenged our guys (to defend Trehwella)," Bauer said. "He's a good player. It's hard to stop him. There was no change of scheme or anything special. We just played better defense against him and it showed."

After spending most of the game with control of the tempo, the Kingsmen were scrambling in the final few minutes. Noah Applegate, who scored 15 points, had just hit a 3-pointer to bring Penn within three, 58-55. On St. Joe's possession, Ferro misfired on a 3-pointer, but Indian guard Sammy Quinn sliced through the clutter of bodies, got the rebound and an easy put-back for the last of his 17 points.

"That was a back-breaker," said Rhodes. "That sealed the game away."

It was the start of a six-point run that gave St. Joe some breathing room.

"We've emphasized rebounding for the past couple months," Bauer said. "They're just starting to get it now."

Penn finished with a 39-25 board edge.

Penn pulls away from Mishawaka in fourth quarter

Staples, Burns can only watch as Penn races by Cavemen

By Al Lesar South Bend Tribune

MISHAWAKA — Pre-game was a sad sight and a reminder that the basketball gods aren't always fair.

Two of the area's top players, Mishawaka's Peyton Staples (left ankle) and Trey Burns (left knee) of Penn, stood by chatting while their teams warmed up. It could have been quite a showdown ...

Instead, the Kingsmen have had a season to figure out how to get along without Burns. He won't be available at all this season. The Cavemen have had just a week after Staples was injured against Clay last Friday. It showed in Penn's 55-35 Northern Indiana Conference victory Friday night.

"We've had to alter a scheme we've used for the last three years," said Mishawaka coach Ryan Watson, his Cavemen 9-5 (4-3). "Having Peyton out there is a comfort zone. He is our stat leader, emotional leader, and calming influence."

Without the 6-foot-6 senior, who Watson hopes will be back in action a week or so before the state tournament, the Cavemen were challenged to be scrappy.

It worked for the first three quarters.

Even though Mishawaka scored just four baskets in the first half and trailed 25-14, Penn (7-8, 4-3) wasn't able to pull away. Matt Trehwella, who has picked up the bulk of Penn's scoring load this season, had two fouls in the first four minutes of the game and never was a factor.

The Kingsmen labored and led just 38-30 after three quarters. The Cavemen missed the front end of a bonus free throw situation, then had two 3-pointers rim in, then out. Making a serious move was that close.

"We didn't want (the difference) to go inside seven (points)," said Penn coach Al Rhodes. "Once we got it back to 40-30, we felt pretty good."

That's when 6-5 freshman Noah Applegate stepped up. He scored three straight baskets near the bucket, leading Penn on a 15-2 run that put the game away.

"Our passing was very good and Applegate is pretty good from 15 feet and closer," said Rhodes. "Our halfcourt defense was very good. Without Staples, we were able to concentrate on (Jordon Arch) and (Luke Shively)."

Without Staples' inside presence, Penn was able to command the boards, 42-19. Applegate led the Kingsmen with 17 points and Tyler Seger had 11 points and eight rebounds, not bad for a 5-10 point guard.

Shively was the only Caveman in double figures with 10.

"We're doing a lot of learning right now," Watson said. "Our guys gave everything they had tonight. We'll keep at it."

The best choreography of the night came from the Penn student section. They pulled off a "Silent Night," being completely still until the 1:35 mark of the first quarter when a 3-pointer by Applegate finally put the Kingsmen in double figures. That was their cue to let loose and amp up the noise.
